

GERALD SMITH, DO

EMERGENCY MEDICINE

Gerald Smith, DO, is the emergency department medical director at Penn Highlands Elk. He offers expert care to patients with immediate healthcare needs, including diagnosis and treatment of acute injuries and illnesses.

Medical School – Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, Philadelphia, PA

Residency – Emergency Medicine/Internal Medicine, Jefferson University Health System, Philadelphia, PA

Certification – Emergency Medicine

Certification – Internal Medicine

Certification – Basic Life Support

Certification – Advanced Cardiac Life Support

Certification – Pediatric Advanced Life Support

Certification – Emergency Ultrasound

Member – American Osteopathic Association

Member – American Medical Association

Member – American College of Osteopathic Internists

Member – American College of Osteopathic Emergency Physicians

PENN HIGHLANDS ELK

A Service of Penn Highlands DuBois

Emergency Department
763 Johnsonburg Road
St. Marys, PA 15857

814-788-8595 phone

Accepting major insurances.

COMMON TREATMENTS AND PROCEDURES INCLUDE:

- Diagnosis of acute injuries or illnesses
- Major cuts
- Major aches and pains
- Heart attack
- Stroke
- Major eye problems
- Bone breaks
- Complications from chronic illnesses

To find out more about emergency services at Penn Highlands Healthcare, contact the office at 814-788-8595 or visit www.phhealthcare.org/ed.